GOALS AND RATIONALE

Goal 1 – Students will develop their own personal learner profile. Goal 2 – Students will explore a range of learning strategies and determine the best method for them. Goal 3 – Students will complete a Learning Strategies Checkpoint inventory. Goal 4 - Students will be develop their own self-advocacy skills in relation to their academic subjects. While many subjects ask students to study, manage their time, organize their work, rarely are students discretely taught these skills. Learning Strategies 10-12 is a course designed to directly teach these skills and allow students the opportunity to develop a personal learner profile. Through this course we aim to lead students into their own metacognitive processes in order that they may apply skills across their high school subjects. Lessons and games addressing time management and organization skills have very real and direct real-world applications, not only for student's other subjects, but for life beyond the school context.

BIG IDEAS

Strategies and skills we learn in high school contribute to our life-long learning. Self-advocacy requires planning, reflecting, adapting and collaborating. Reflecting on our preferences and skills helps us identify the steps we need to take to achieve our goals. Achieving our learning goals requires effort and perseverance.
